

The Gazette. Montréal, Samedi, 1er décembre 2007

Henry Lehmann

Certainly, some of Elmyrna Bouchard's collages on view at Galerie Trois Points have an eloquence entirely out of measure with their modest size. Indeed, the scratchy pencil marks and strangely reassured dots seem to know something we don't. To see this for yourself, check out mixed-media piece with the two-part title, Étude pour pièce de papier. Son ascension. What we get is a smattering of visual stem cells: a line here, a blot there, but also a full sense that the whole piece of paper is about to switch colours.

Elmyrna Bouchard's mixed-media works, collectively titled Études pour pièces de papier, remain on view at Galerie Trois Points, 372 Ste. Catherine st. w., Room 520, until Dec. 22. Call 514-866-8008 or go to www.galerietroispoints.qc.ca.